

GERMAN HEATER.

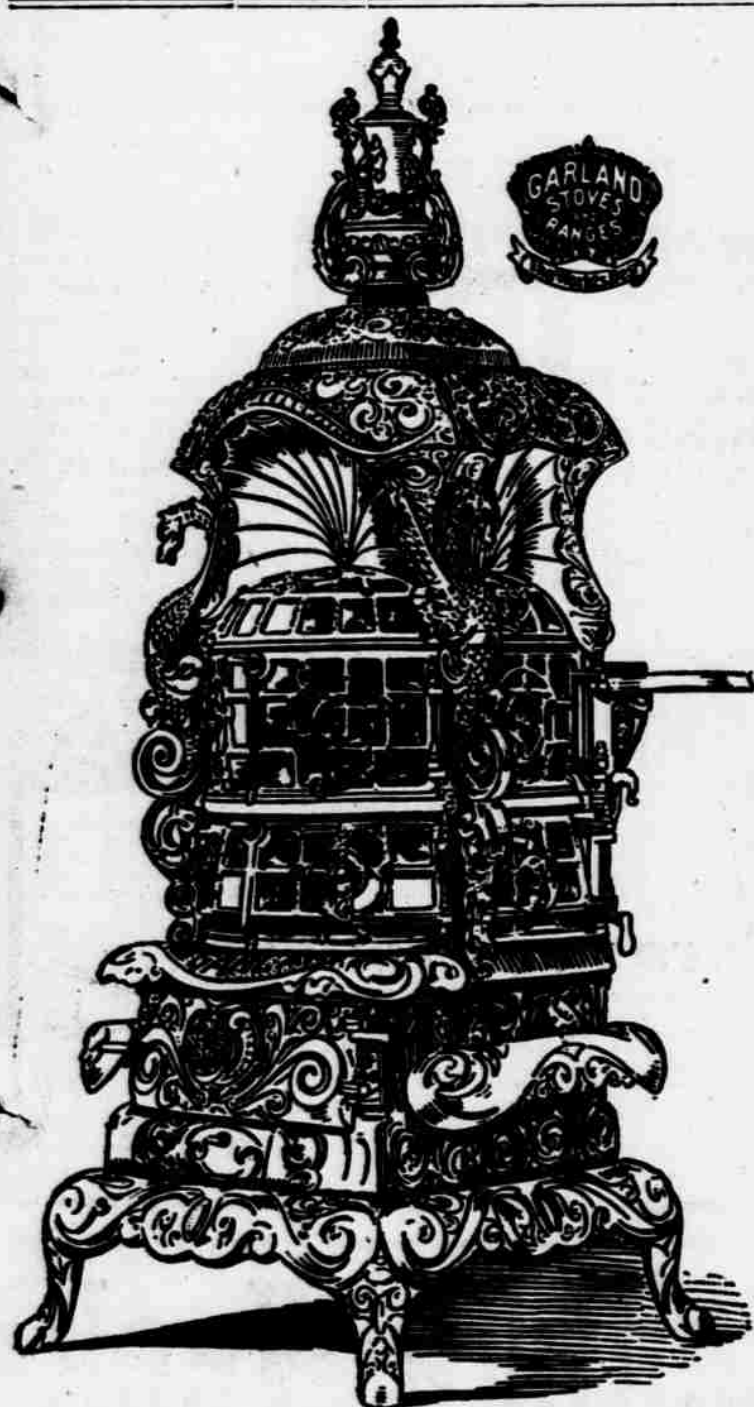

The German Heater is no longer an experiment. It is a base heater, therefore a great floor warmer and is guaranteed to make 25 per cent more base heat than the same sized hard coal base burner and to keep fire better.

The German Heater is a suit consumer and fuel saver, will save 33 1/2 per cent of fuel over the straight draft stove.

The German Heater will burn soft coal, hard coal or wood. We sold 19 German Heaters last winter. We now have a full line of German Heaters in stock, inspect them.

The German Heater Furnace is a powerful Heater. If you are contemplating putting in a Furnace we would like to figure with you.

—J. N. Menifee and wife left Wednesday on their return to Sapulpa, I. T.

—Orrick Kreek has several head of full blooded Poland-China male pigs for sale

—A baby boy came to gladden the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Kline on September 15th.

—The SENTINEL force wishes to return thanks to Messrs Weaver & Washington for a jug of their sweet cider.

—Enoch C. Ziegler, of Mound City, and Mrs. Mary D. McCann, of Corning, were married in St. Joseph on Friday last, Sept. 18, 1903.

—Ed. Muxlow and Mother Muxlow, of Omaha, are here visiting with their daughter, Mrs. Wm. Morris. We are sorry to learn of the very poor health of Mr. M.

—Mound City now has a full fledged company of "the bold soldier boys," and will be known on the rolls as Company G. 4th regiment of Missouri National Guards. The officers are C. S. Graves, captain; C. C. Smith, 1st lieutenant; Ben Mumm, 2d lieutenant. The company is composed of 56 men.

—William P. Watts died at his home in Mound City, on Monday of last week, Sept. 14, 1903, aged 46 years. He had resided on his farm near Napier until about a month ago, when he moved to Mound City. He leaves a widow and one son. His wife was Miss Stella D. an, whom he married in 1888.

—Frank Kneale sold his farm of 180 acres Wednesday to Arthur Brown for $81.25 per acre, aggregating $13,000. He has in turn purchased the William DeBord farm of 280 acres in Andrew county, paying $23,000 for it. Mr. Kneale is now in Andrew county finishing up the deal.—Maitland Herald.

—The Highland neighborhood again furnishes us with a sad accident. On Wednesday of last week, September 16, 1903, while Mrs. John Jester was doing her family washing, the wash boiler containing scalding water was setting on the floor, and while she was busy with her washing, her little child now able to walk, approached the boiler unseen, and pulled it over, the scalding water completely saturating the little one and scalding it so frightfully that it died the following day, and on Friday was buried at Forbes.

—Our school is now thoroughly underway and in full running order. We should try to make the sessions of 1903-4 the best ever known in Oregon and Southern Holt county. The patrons can assist pupils and teachers very much by taking a greater interest in the schools. Visit the schools and see for yourself how the work is progressing. Much of the faultfinding with teachers by parents would be obliterated if parents would visit the school of their child at least once a term. Get acquainted with the teacher, show sympathy and co-operation; not listening to every little tale of woe brought home by the child.

—During an electrical storm Monday afternoon, Sept. 7, 1903, lightning struck the front screen door of the house of S. G. Alkire, four miles south of Fortescue. The stroke separated, one portion entering the room and tearing about three feet of plastering from the ceiling, while the other portion splintered the door casing and entered the ground. Lee Alkire, who teaches the Idlewild school, S. G. Alkire and wife and R. A. Woolsey were in an adjoining room at the time of the lightning flash. They were all stunned and Mrs. Alkire was hit by flying splinters, otherwise no one was hurt. Two days later lightning struck a walnut tree in the yard, but no damage was done.—Jeffersonian.

—An incident occurred in a certain Graham store one day last week that will make one less customer for Montgomery, Ward & Co. A farmer and his wife were pricing over shoes when the man remarked that he could buy a certain brand of shoes of M. W. & Co., for a certain price. The clerk informed him that he would sell him the same brand of shoes for less money. The farmer was knocked speechless, but finally managed to say to his wife, "Take 'em quick, Mandy." If others who have been in the habit of patronizing catalogue houses will only take the trouble to get prices on the same goods from home merchants the catalogue houses will have hard sledding.—Graham Post. If home merchants would advertise in proportion to city houses there would be less mail order business, too.

—Hot and cold bathes at C. C. Philbrick's barber shop.

—The Atchison county circuit court begins next Monday, 28th inst., with a very light docket.

—Dr. B. B. Simmons, three doors south of opera house. Office over Hinde & Dohrer's drug store. Phone No. 24.

—Henry, the eight-year old son of Gilbert Murray, died at the home of his parents in Forest City, on Wednesday, September 16, 1903, and was buried in the Forest City cemetery on Friday last.

—Spencer, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Curtis, of Pueblo, Colo., stopped over here for a few days visit with his grandparents, Uncle John S. Curtis and wife, of the Union district. Spencer is on his way to Ann Arbor, Mich., where he will attend the university there, taking the chemical engineering course. He is a splendid specimen of the physical man, not yet being 21 years of age and weighing 215 pounds.

—Uncle Robert Patterson is about as proud as old Lucifer just at this time. His son has sent him from Port Arthur, Texas, a cane made from the Irish black thorn, which was made in his native country, near his old home in Manor Cunningham, county of Donegal, Ireland. It was brought over to this country by Mr. William Fullerton, of Port Arthur, who had gone to Ireland to visit his old home, and had met Uncle Robert while on a visit to Port Arthur.

—On the 19th inst., the Atchison Journal reached its 40th year of publication, and during all that time John D. Doph has been its editor—a most remarkable instance in country journalism. Mr. Doph, will, in a few weeks, begin the publication of a series of articles on the history of the paper, and of course, to a very large degree, be a history of Atchison county. We trust that the days of the Journal and its versatile editor may yet be many, and peace, plenty and prosperity always be their portion.

—By some means Wilson Wrieger's little grandson got hold of a can of concentrated lye Sunday, Sept. 13, 1903, and as a consequence is suffering a great deal from the effects. The lye was kept upon the stove, but by some means it was knocked off on the floor. The child got some of the lye on its hands, and it is supposed put them in its mouth. Dr. Williams was called, and by administering an antidote, prevented serious effects. As it is, the mouth is severely burned, but it is thought the stomach is not affected.—Maitland Herald.

—During the recent floods, an old sow on the Davey Jones farm, southwest of Hopkins, manifested a whole lot of hog sense. With four little pigs she kept getting onto the higher knobs on the bottom, until the rising water compelled her to swim. She then collected the little ones about her, two on each side, and remained quiet until they found they could support themselves with their front feet on her back. She then struck out, swimming slowly, and towing the little ones safely to the shore half mile distant.—Hopkins Journal.

—An unusual effort is being made this year to interest the students of the State University in religious life. Committees of the different churches called on them personally at their boarding places the week of their arrival and urged them to attend church regularly beginning with their first Sunday in school. The president interviewed prominent students from every department of university life and urged them to use their influence to secure church attendance. Some of the ablest business men of the town have consented to become Sunday school teachers.

—It is a down right shame—a "measly shame," that so few of our citizens paid any attention whatever to the sale of tickets for the coming lecture course, which was held on Saturday afternoon last. They seemed so busy whittling and talking—well just talking—that they could not possibly find time to look after their seats, and we suppose at the last hour they will whine because there are left so few good seats. If you want a seat you had better go after it—if you don't never again open your mouth about having a lecture course. Some of the very loudest in favor of a lecture course utterly failed to show up on last Saturday.

—John Stephenson, who owns 10 acres of land on Kinsey Creek, north of Forest City, was, on the 30th of March last, found to be a person of unsound mind by a jury, and was sent to the St. Joseph asylum at the expense of the county. He remained there about three months working in the asylum brickyard, and taking treatment. During the month of July he made his escape and returned to Holt county, and also went to Iowa and Nebraska, all the time eluding the officers. On Sept. 14, 1903, Mr. John Keenish appeared before the probate court and filed affidavit that Stephenson had recovered from his insanity, and asked for a rehearing, which was done on Saturday last, 19th inst. The court after hearing the evidence of William Rowlett and wife, John and Robert Cottier and others, found that Stephenson had recovered his sanity, and he was ordered released. M. D. Walker, his guardian, will make his final settlement at the coming November term of the probate court.

"Diamond Special" FIT

FIT is all important in a fine shoe. No shoe can be stylish that does not fit. It will wrinkle and soon become unsightly.

No shoe can hold its shape and feel really comfortable that does not fit.

No shoe can give the best wear unless it fits—because the strain is all wrong.

"Diamond Special"

Shoes are modeled from the human foot. The ball of the shoe comes where the ball of the foot requires. "Diamond Special" Shoe "snug up" under the instep, supporting the arch of the foot and giving luxury of fit, trimness of effect and length of service.

DIAMOND SPECIALS woman's $3.00.

—E. A. Vinsonhaler, of the Maryville bar, was here on Saturday, having business before Circuit Judge Woodson. He has many warm friends here in Oregon, who are always glad to see him.

—Kickers are found in every city and community. If all kickers only knew the estimation in which they are held they would probably change their habits and methods. Here's to the kicker, the faint hearted kicker, the kicker so helpless and blue, who always if crying and never is trying some good for his town to do. No use to correct him or need we expect him to get to the front like a man, for while others route, he'll sit down and huddle, objections to raise to each plan.

—Savannah's annual street fair will be held October 5-10.

—W. A. S. Derr made a shipment of 7 years of hogs and 7 of cattle to Chicago, Saturday last week.

—Hot and cold lunch and regular meals at Mathews restaurant. Also Wanks' brand, home made candies, etc.

—Mrs. Elroy Mathews and children spent a week with Grandpa and Grandma John Lewis, in the Fairview neighborhood.
